Dear SPIDER friends,

The Swedish Program for ICT in Developing Regions (SPIDER) was created in 2004 by the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida) and since then been hosted by the Royal Institute of Technology (KTH) within the Department of Computer and Systems Sciences (DSV).

Due to reorganization at KTH, SPIDER will be hosted by Stockholm University (SU) from the 1st of January 2010. SPIDER will remain as a center at DSV, which until now has been a department of both KTH and SU.

We would like to thank KTH for being a supportive host for the past five years. During this time, SPIDER developed from idea to organization. At the same time we are looking forward to the next period of operation being hosted by Stockholm University and challenging ourselves and our network as SPIDER develops.

There will be no significant differences for you in the SPIDER Network, except for the new postal and billing addresses and contact information. Please contact us if you have any questions with regards to this, and remember to visit our web site regularly.

Best wishes from Afzal and colleagues
